Samen het kind zien

Stichting 360grView is a result of the former Expertgroup Excellence in Education of the Ministry of Education. Experts from all over the country were called together to advise the Secretary of Education about his policy concerning excellent students and gifted children.

Dorien Kok, Lilian van der Poel, Nienke Ryan and Veronique Schutgens planned to expand the plans they made during this process and decided to establish Stichting 360grView, a foundation that focuses on possibilities and potential of gifted children, rather than problems that emerge from all kinds of situations or circumstances.

In order to be able to recognise giftedness, 360grView tries to develop tools or supports those who have tools. We offer a large network of specialists, knowledge and information about giftedness, about gifted children, their education and their development, materials and so on. In our opinion it is necessary to identify gifted children at an early age, and continually follow their development. This is the only way to ensure a healthy development, both physically and psychologically, and it provides in ongoing learning.

We are a young foundation that is growing fast and we love the work we do.

Our motto is: identifying, stimulating and stimulating gifted children is a job both for parents and professionals working with those children. Together we can see the child in all its possibilities, and we can support it in order to become who it is.
